> Home of Mrs. Grace Snell Coffin Transferred to New Owner.

Papers were filed in Kenosha with th registrar of deeds Saturday conveying the Coffin property to J. C. Yeager of Chicago. Twenty thousand dollars was the amount paid by the purchaser who will convert the meadows of "Greenacre Farm" into fields for corn and rye.

The transfer of the property demanded a big bundle of legal documents, and in transferring the property all the husbands of Mrs. Coffin, save the last one, had a word. Besides the bulky mortgages which had recently been paid off and which were filed for discharge there were quit claim deeds from Frank N. Coffin, who first won the heart and hand of the deceased millionair's daughter.

To show that James C. Walker, another husband had no claim to the property, an affidavit from Wallace Ingalls, attorney to anything that might be a portion of her estate. Quit claim deeds were also filed from Mrs. Coffin to Florence E. Hammond, and the final deed transferring the property was from Mr. and Mrs. Hamto Church. In speaking of the gratuitous supplying of electric current for the special illumination by the United Electric Light and Power company, Mr. Robert J. McCuen, superintendent of lamps and lighting, told recently a characteristic story of the late Col. Milton W. Offutt, who was vice-president of the company. It has been the custom of Col. Offutt to supply an electric light at the annual lawn fete of St. Pius' church. This year the ladies of the church wanted two lights, and not wishing to impose on the Colonel's generosity. they went to Mr. McCuen in their predicament.

Upon citing the circumstances, Mr. McCuen promised that they should have the lights. He called Col. Offutt by telephone and told him that he wanted him to install two lights at the. St. Plus church lawn fete and charge the expense to him personally. Whereupon the Colonel replied:

"They want two lights this year, do they? Well, they shall have them; but I can't allow you to pay for them,

"But I want to." responded Mr. Mc-Cuen.

We have recognized the de facto government on the Isthmus and authorized our consular officers to do business with it. Senator Culloin, chairman of the Senate Committee of Foreign Relations, is deeply interested in the revolution and says he hopes a government will be established so that the United States can negotiate a canal treaty and proceed with the construction. His opinion is generally adherred to at the capital. In recognizing the soverighty of the new republic we should have to consider it as the part of New Granda to which the treaty of 1846 applied, just as we now consider Colombia. Panama is a very small state, about 250,000 inhabitants, and if independent, it would come under the virtual protectorate, if not into actual possession of the United States, This is the opinion held by the European powers, and n their desire to see the canal completed they seem to make no objection to the Isthmus coming under the control of the United States.

A CLELLAN ELECTED NAYOR OF NEW YORK CITY

Low Defeated Under an Adalanche of Votes-Herrick Sweeps Phio by an Overwhelming Majority - Cummins Wine in Town, Beckham in Kentucky.

Tammany scored a remarkable triumph in New York's city election. Its entire city ticket has been elected by a plurality second only to the unprecedented sweep of 1902, when Color carried the city by 122,000 votes more than Odell, the Republican candidate for Governor. It was something more than a lundslide-it was an avalanche. Manhattan and the Bronx, comprising

G. B. M'CLELLAN. New York County, give a plurality of between 00,000 and 70,000 for McClellan, Grout and Fornes. Even Brooklyn has been carried by the Tammany ticket by a plurality approaching 4,000. Martin W. Littleton, Democratic caudidate for president of the borough, who indorsed the stand of Hugh-McLaughlin in fighting the Tammanyizing of Brooklyn, is also elected. The borough of Queens is Democratic, Richmond is the only borough carried by Low. The board of aldermen will be completely in control of Tammany.

The verdict at the polls so strongly intrenches the wigwam in power in the city that its adherents assert that it will be practically invincible in the presidential and State elections next year. Charles F. Murphy becomes the most important Democrat in the country. He will probably have more influence in the next Democratic national convention than Croker, Kelly or Hill ever had, because he will not only be able to dominate the Democratic party of the entire city but the Democratic party of the State as well. Murphy's victory seems to mean the destruction of both David B. Hill and Hugh McLaughlin.

Mr. Clarke lost Mahoning County, his former home, and Mayor "Golden Rule" Jones failed to make good his promise to carry Toledo and the adjoining country, Lucas County rolling up the largest plurality ever recorded there, giving Col. Herrick 3,200 more votes than Mayor Johnson.

Senator Arthur Pue Gorman scored a victory by the election of Edwin Warfield (Democrat) as Governor over Stevenson A. Williams (Republican). LIGHT VOTE IN IOWA.

Governor Cummins Re-elected by a Plurality of 60.000.

In Iowa Gov. Cummins and the Republican State ticket are elected by about 60,000 plurality on an extremely light vote throughout the State. In the Legislature it is thought the Demo-

I had placed the figures at about 60,000, but the returns indicate that the plurality for the Republican ticket will approach 70,000 instead. Considering the light vote the plurality really is everything that Republicans could expect." The Democratic representatives of Mr. Sullivan said they were surprised at the size of the plurality. They had not expected the Republican ticket to be elected by more than 30,000. The Democratic State central committee issued a statement at midnight conceding Gov. Cummins' re-election by 41,000 plurality.

Threatened with Extinction.

Disease and starvation are threatening the inhabitants of the Cape Verd Isands, a Portuguese possession off the west const of Africa, with extinction. From twenty to fifty persons die daily, and government officials on the islands ask to be released, as they are unwilling to stand the awful sights. Food is being shipped from Portuguese ports to the islanders, but the islands are without physicians, and as a consequence the diseases incident to the lack of food are carrying off the people. The survivors are reduced to mere skeletons, and all the industries on the islands are idle.

The Cape Verd Islands number fourteen and have a population of 100,000. The inhabitants are mainly a mixture of the power of resisting disease.

BOUND TO HAVE HER WAY.

Woman Comes From the Grave to See Promise is Kept.

A remarkable ghost story is told in the parish of Burton Agnes, England. There years ago lived three sisters of the name of Boynton. The youngest of the three exacted the promise from the others that on her death her head should be placed on a table in the hall. She met with an accident shortly after, which resulted in her death, Her sisters neglected their promise to her and she was buried, head and all. But on the night after the burial the hall was thrown into terrible confusion and the dead lady appeared to her sisters with her head under her arm. She upbraided them with their head on the table, disappeared. In the morning the head was still there and on the coffin being dug up the body was found to be headless. Any attempt to remove the head was followed by disturbances during the tance from the house, but was restored by the ghost. Eventually the head disappeared, but the disturbances continue nightly in the hall.

Phyllis. Hears not my Phyllis how the birds
Their feathered mates salute?
They tell their passion in their words;
Must I alone be mute?
Phyllis, without frown or smile,
Sat and knotted all the while.

The god of love in thy bright eyes
Does like a tyrant reign;
But in thy heart a child he lies,
Without his dart or filme.
Phyllis, without frown or smile,
Sat and knotted all the while.

And yet in raging love,
Might well deserve one word at last
My passion should approve.
Phyllis, without frown or smile,
Sat and knotted all the while.

Must then your faithful swain expire,
And not one look obtain,
Which he, to scothe his fond desire,
Might pleasingly explain?
Phyllis, without frown or smile,
Sat and knotted all the while.

The phenomena of electric disstreams of corpuscles propelled along the tubes suggested to Crookes in 1870 the idea of a fourth state of matter. and these corpuscles-smaller than atoms and the same in all kinds of gases-were named electrons by Stoney, and have come to be regarded as as making up matter itself. When torn from its groups or from matter the electron travels with a speed comparable to that of light. A body charged with electricity, if at rest, presents the phenomena of electrostatics; if in motion, those of electricity and magnetism; if in acceleration or change of motion, those of light and radiation generally.

CHEER UP! CHEER UP!

Be a Man of Sunny Hind and You'll Re Happy as Well as Good. How true! In the mud and scum of things—down in the blackest depths of despair that we can reach—there is always something singing—singing a song of hope, of cheer, of encouragement. No matter how dark and forbidding the clouds that hang o'er us; no matter how utterly hopeless our condition and our environment may be, it is the inner consciousness of the sun that is shining behind those clouds and the hope which lingers about those environments that spurs us on to efforts to overcome our hopelessness and gives us the energy to strive, to reach, to yearn for better things. Were it not for hope most of us would give up life's race now and settle down to a state of indifference bordering on

Note the man who always smiles: note the friends at his beck and call; note those who are always ready to grasp his hand and be thrilled by his good nature. There is nothing in pesbled the largest simism. The man who continually refuses to see sunlight, who always mopes in the shadows, who knows no love, no charity, no good will toward his fellow man-what a miserable existence must be his! God gives us sorrows to offset our joys; tears to act as a check upon our mirth, but He doesn't intend the tears to last always, nor the sorrows to make us confirmed mourners. Cheer up! Smile! Be merry! Lock your troubles in your heart and throw away the key. Meet your fellow man with a kind word and a firm grasp of the hand, put him on the back and give him the words and advice and encouragement for which his heart is probably longing - be natural-be yourself-don't let the monster Hate enter into your thoughts-and you will find that your life is more full of roses than of thorns, and that you are nobler, better, happier for the words of cheer on your lips and the sunshine in your soul!-Royal Blue.

In deciding upon the course taken with regard to the new republic of Panama the president and his advisers are not without the guidance of historic precedents. The question of granting recognition to new nations created by insurrection and secession has come up several times, especially in connection with South and Central American affairs, and the principles followed in these cases are fairly well defined.

CUBAN RECIPROCITY

Following is the message of President Boosevelt dealing with the Cuban reciprocity treaty. It was read Tuesday to both houses of the Fifty eighth Congress in extraordinary session: To the Senate and House of Representatives: I have convened the Congress that it may consider the legislation necessary to put into operation the commercial treaty with Cuba, which was ratified by the Senate at its last session and subsequently by the Cuban government. I deem such legislation demanded not only by our interests but by our honor. We cannot with propriety abandon the course upon which we have so wisely embarked. When the acceptance of the Platt amendment was required from Cuba by the action of Cougress of the United States, this government thereby definitely committed itself to the policy of treating Cuba as occupying a unique position as regards this country. It was provided that when the island became a free and independent republic she should stand in such close relations with us as in certain respects to come within our system of international policy; and it necessarily followed that she must alsoto a certain degree become included within the lines of our economic policy, Situnted as Cuba is it would not be possible for this country to permit the strate. gic abuse of the plan by any foreign military power. It is for this reason that certain limitations have been imposed upon her financial policy and that naval stations have been conceded by her to the United States. The negotiations as to the details of these naval stations are on the eve of completion. They are sosituated as to prevent any idea that there is the intention ever to use them against Cuba, or otherwise than for the protection of Cuba from the assaults of foreign foes, and for the better safeguarding of American interests in the waters south-

Miss Amelia Paschinski of East Twenty-second street, Bayonne, N. J., and Adam Weiner, an Industrious lish Catholic church on Friday aftertheir friends blocked their way to the carriage, kissing the bride and hugging the bridegroom.

The bride felt several tugs at her veil, which hung to the ground and was ornamented with smilax, pinks and roses. After an unusually severe tug she turned her head and saw a venerable billygoat, his mouth full of veil and smilax and his whiskers wiggling in time to the rapid mastication.

The bride screamed and gathered up her skirts, fled into the coach. The goat received a few hard kicks but managed to get away with a yard of smilax and another yard of bridal veil. Upon looking down he read inscribed on the coffin plate: "James Douglas, earl of March; born Nov. 5, 1725; dled June 10, 1750." Lord March turned pale. "What is the meaning of this infernally bad jest?" he inquired. "Why, my dear fellow," replied his opponent, "you are of course aware that I never miss my man, and as I find myself in excellent trim for sport to-day I have not a shadow of doubt upon my mind that you will want this oaken cloak before five minutes are over." This was too much for the nerves of Lord March. He refused to fight, apologizing in-

Picture Recently Enished Was Begun

Four Centuries Ago.

The morbid streak in human nature was evidenced during the last few days by the throngs that paused on that hung in an auctioneer's window, says the New York Press. It represented "The Day of Judgment." Pits of sulphur, ghouls, fields, harples and serpents were all pictured in a way to make the blood run cold; but the most gruesome part of the painting from his first party and was prattling was the uper left-hand corner. There Napoleon Bonaparte was shown stand-ing grimly with folded arms in the midst of enwreathing flames. The victims of his ambitious schemes confronted him as skeletons and a dead body pierced with a sword was held accusingly before his eyes.

This painting was it called "Napoleon in Hell" was executed by Wiertz in 1840 and the finshing touches were added by a third artist named Vallet. It is a fantastic work, evidently inspired in theme by Dante's "Inferno," It is said there is nothing else like it in the world. Many of those who viewed it with a shudder say that one painting of the kind is enough.

Ostend's Dependence on Gambling. Some statistics have been issued which show how Ostend has been shaken to its financial foundations by the effects of the new gambling law closing the Kursaal. Last year the Kursaal paid to the municipality £62, 000 in rent, £20,000 as a tax on the so-called "club," and £36,000 as a personal tax at £4 per head on the 9,000 visitors who joined the "club." With this large subvention of £118,-000 the town's municipal receipts last year were £320,000. This year not a penny has been forthcoming from the sources named and the civic resources are crippled to a corresponding degree. This, however, does not exhaust the mischief. The falling-off in visitors represents £450 a day in the larger hotels, among which the season's losses are estimated at £240.
